Leidos
12901 Science Dr, Orlando, FL, US

Dear Leidos Talent Acquisition Team,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Software Development Intern position on your Handshake page in Orlando, FL. Contributing to Leidos' impactful engineering and trusted AI solutions as a third-year Computer Science major sounds quite appealing. I would greatly appreciate the ability to express my extensive interest and skills as a new member of your team.

Since starting college and transferring to the University of Central Florida, I've been able to continuously hone and perfect my skills in programming languages such as C, HTML, Java, JavaScript, and Python while also combining those skills to create mobile app projects and websites using React Native, including my portfolio, while also using C to simulate the operations of an arithmetic logic unit through MIPS instruction files. While I am still expanding my expertise in other skill sets, I am eager to apply all of this knowledge to further refine it in a professional environment.

Leidos' global impact and presence on government intelligence and civilian defense, while providing interns with meaningful projects tackling tough real-world problems and experiences, strongly speaks to me about how involved and passionate the company is with ensuring its employees' success. I've worked and led team operations as an advisor in Journalism, where I often had to assess, motivate, and reassure my team's creative performance to ensure the quality of our graphic designs and products were successfully produced while maintaining a positive working environment for everyone.

I'm confident that my academic foundation and enthusiasm for software development would make me an excellent candidate for your team. I look forward to the opportunity to schedule an interview to discuss how my skills and aspirations align with the needs of Leidos. I would be more than pleased to address any questions or concerns that you may have.

Thank you for your consideration.
Sincerely,
Lorenzo Wyman
